President Roosevelt was cheered as he ...se to speak. His reference to the fact that one of his uncles was on the Alabama during the civil war.

Referring to the Panama canal, the president said he did his best to bring about the completion for the benefit of the whole people, but particularly for the benefit of the gulf states. Originally, he said, he favored the Nicaragua route, but when it was demonstrated that it must be the Panama canal or nothing he favored the Panama route, as he wanted to see a canal built and one will be built. Notwithstanding the efforts of certain people who are striving by their circulation of false rumors or other methods to delay or defeat the construction of the canal, the president said they will find a point for there is going to be a canal. Health conditions on the isthmus, he said, are better now than ever before. The president said in part:

Advocates Strong Navy.

"If we build the canal we must protect it and police it ourselves. We must, therefore, bring up and keep our navy to the highest point of efficiency. In the event of war the American people must rely mainly upon its volunteer soldiers. While it is comparatively a simple act to turn a man into quite a good soldier, you can neither improvise a battleship or the crew of a battleship. It is not necessary that we should have a particularly large navy but it is necessary that a ship for ship, it should be a little the best in the world."

The president concluded his speech by referring to his pleasure at seeing the children. The fathers and mothers must see to it that the children are properly trained in order to keep up the standard of our country, he said.

President Roosevelt will spend the night outside the city of Montgomery. His train will be sidetracked in the country near Montgomery and will leave at 7 o'clock in the morning for Tuskegee, where it is scheduled to arrive at 8:30 a. m.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 23.—W. R. Brassel, secretary of the Alabama board of health, boarded the special train of President Roosevelt at Brinson, Ga., and upon affidavits of Surgeon General Rixey, issued a clean bill of health to the presidential party.

Mr. Roosevelt told Secretary Brassel that he wished to conform with all quarantine regulations.

...speech at Raleigh indicates ... the president favors giving ...railroads more leeway than he ... suggested by not having the ... effect immediately. A reas... ...sonable time may mean time for a re... ...view of it by judicial and not admin... ...istrative authority.

"The Esch-Townsend bill as passed by the house of representatives last winter would not only have subjected the roads to punishment before judicial conviction, but the character of judicial review proposed was such that they would not have had the benefit of equitable trial even after conviction, for the courts would have been precluded from considering the reasonableness of the rate complained of, and the rate ordered by the commission would have been set aside only if it had been found to be confiscatory. It is therefore important if legislation is to be enacted that will insure roads a 'square deal' that the opportunity for a prompt and effective review of the whole case by the courts should be provided for."

RIO GRANDE WESTERN ANNUAL MEETING HELD.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 23.—The annual meeting of the Rio Grande Western Railroad company was held in this city today. The meeting was attended by Vice President Schlacks, Chief Counsel Vaile and Treasurer Colton, holding the proxies for nearly the whole of the outstanding stock. The former board of directors was re-elected with the exception of E. H. Harriman, who was dropped in favor of A. H. Calff of New York. George J. Gould resigned several months ago from the directorate of the Union Pacific and Mr. Harriman's retirement as director of the Gould properties followed.

ILLUSTRATED LIFE INSURANCE TESTIMONY.
This, gentle and timid reader, is only a snapshot on pay-day at one of our great insurance companies.

UNCONSCIOUS OF HIS IDENTITY
MANIAC GAINS REASON
TO LOSE FAMILY AND FORTUNE

Lost to his own identity for 30 months, during which time he served a sentence in the penitentiary for a crime of which he was unconscious, Frank Hughes has returned to his place among men to claim his own.

During his long lapse from consciousness of his personal identity, his property was divided among strangers and his wife and daughter, unable to account for the inexplicable silence he preserved, believed him to be dead or to have willfully deserted them and fled to some unknown place where they might hide from the world their sorrow.

Maniac in Prison.

While the grief and horror of the whole tragic train of circumstances was eating out the hearts of the two faithful and perplexed women, the husband and father was lying prostrate in a narrow hospital ward in the Colorado state penitentiary at Canon City a raving maniac, broken in body and mind, while the letters remained unopened in the office of the warden.

This pathetic and remarkable story will be brought to light in county court today or tomorrow when Attorneys C. L. McKenzie and W. M. Swift move to set aside a decree of some two years ago declaring Mr. Hughes insane.

When that important end has been accomplished the attorneys for Mr. Hughes will file suit in district court against the Colorado Midland Railway company for damages in the sum of $20,000 for injuries sustained in the Midland wreck between Cripple Creek and Woodland Park, June 28, 1903.

A Remarkable Case.

Since it is certainly that he may be a science, students of the mind have been profoundly interested in phenomena similar to that displayed by Mr. Hughes, and his remarkable case has been previous.

Prior to the Midland wreck in which F. M. English, choirmaster and organist at St. Stephen's church, was killed and a score of persons were injured, Mr. Hughes, in 1903, with his wife and daughter, at the Denver Convention. He was a lively, engaging man, doing in the Cripple Creek district, where he was the president of two companies owning excellent properties and where he had in process of patent several promising claims.

One of these properties he [illegible] to sell to an eastern syndicate for $[illegible]. This deal would have been closed that day or the next had not the wreck completely shut Mr. Hughes out from the world of men.

Mind a Blank.

From the moment he experienced the shock of the concussion and realized that he was being hurled head foremost through an open window of the passenger coach, Mr. Hughes had not the remotest idea of who he was, where he was, or what he was doing until the day before last Christmas when an abscess on his brain broke and he found himself in the penitentiary.

When he became conscious, Hughes' first thought was that he must have been considerably shaken by his fall from the passenger coach and he said to his attendant, "That was a pretty stiff jolt I got yesterday." He thought it was only the day before that the accident happened.

Fortunately a doctor was present. Fearful lest a revelation of the true state of affairs would prove a greater shock than Hughes could bear, the physician humored Hughes with the idea that he was in a Colorado Springs hospital, and that the accident had indeed occurred only the day before. Not for more than a month did Hughes know that it was then the eve of the year 1906 and that he was serving a term of eighteen months in the penitentiary for the theft of several bicycles.

Then they gave him his mail, which had accumulated prodigiously, and he eagerly tore open those letters from his wife and child. They were many months old, the last given add, as being Pueblo. Afterward he learned how deep had been their woe and how pitiful the plight which had led them to follow him to the Smelter city, where he himself had been confined in Dr. Work's sanatorium for the insane for a reasonless year.

Insanity of Crime.

After the excitement of the wreck had passed no one seemed to realize that Frank Hughes had sustained a terrible injury. Not until he neglected his rich mining properties and began to tinker with old bicycles did his friends begin to whisper that Hughes was a little queer. Later it was noticed that he had developed a penchant for other people's wheels without the slightest regard for proprietary rights. His mania for owning things recognized no law of meum et tuum. When he was arrested for the larceny of five or six wheels, Attorney S. H. Kinsley saw in his client the insanity of crime, and at the inquest of lunacy which Mr. Kinsley demanded he established the fact of his client's insanity and had him sent to Pueblo. A year later Hughes was discharged from the insane asylum, and he was immediately arrested on the old charge of theft of wheels. He was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for eighteen months. At the time sentence was passed he was raving mad, but it was thought his madness was feigned.

His Strange Life.

Soon after entering the Canon City penal institution he was sent to the hospital, where he remained. How it was possible for him to have had physical relief from the depression of the brain to the extent that he was temporarily able properly to deport himself, and yet regain at any actual consciousness of his environment, [illegible] from the fact that ever since the breaking of the abscess and his restoration to full consciousness a knot upon his head has increased or lessened according to his temperature and general state of health. If he [illegible] the knot swells twice its normal size and causes him great distress.

Escaping Last Week.

After his release from the penitentiary this last August, Hughes went directly to [illegible] of his family. He found they had been gone for nearly a year. At the place where they had last resided the people told the unfortunate man that his wife and daughter were [illegible] here along the new Moffat road. He has visited all stations and postof-

MANY KILLED

Deaths and Injuries in Railroad Accidents Increase. Report Issued.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—During the twelve months ending June 30, 1905, 888 persons were killed and 13,798 injured as the result of accidents on railroad trains, according to a report of the Interstate Commerce commission, issued today. Compared with 1904 shows an increase of 11 killed and 4,122 injured among passengers and employes, the increase in killed being wholly among passengers, while the number of employes killed shows a decrease of 106. There were 1,331 collisions, and 1,581 derailments, of which 162 collisions and 168 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $2,416,671.

ANOTHER CHARGE AGAINST CUNLIFFE

FLORSBURG, Oct. 23.—A second information, charging larceny of $750 on or before October 8, the day he disappeared with $100,000, was made today against E. G. Cunliffe by C. H. Hino, local agent of the Adams Express company. Cunliffe waived a hearing on this second charge, which will be presented to the grand jury tomorrow. At a late hour today Cunliffe handed to H. W. Pearce, general superintendent of the Pinkerton agency, a letter denying published reports of ill-treatment and stating that his treatment had been kind. Mr. Pearce said that a number of papers that had printed the story of cruelty would be called upon to retract.

RIOT THREATENED IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Reserves from three police precincts were hurriedly summoned tonight to the lower end of the city to quell what threatened to be a serious riot in the Assyrian quarter, where fights between the friends and opponents of Bishop Hawkweenie have been frequent of late. The bishop was arrested a few days ago charged with participating in a shooting affair in Brooklyn, and since then the Assyrian quarter has been in a condition of chronic excitement. Before the police succeeded in clearing the streets tonight half a dozen Assyrians received cuts and stab wounds, none however, of a serious character. Two were arrested on charges of [illegible].

Limit Reached.

"For the past two years the expenditures of the government have been in excess of the revenues to the amount of more than $64,000,000. This, however, included the extraordinary expenditure of $50,000,000 on the Panama canal in 1904. This is the first year in the past six years when the ordinary expenditures were in excess of the revenues and the amount was $33,000,000. The available cash balance June 30 last, of $145,477,491 is deemed adequate to meet the demands upon the treasury for some time to come."

Referring to the movement of the crops the report says that since January, 1900, this movement has averaged about $27,000,000, and in this connection action by congress to enlarge the volume of small notes is recommended in view of the heavy demand for them [illegible] treasury against outstanding treasury notes. The amount of silver dollars in circulation June 30, 1905, was $73,584,336, as against $71,313,826 12 months before.

It is estimated that the maximum circulation of silver dollars has been reached. The total number of these dollars received annually at the treasury offices is about $50,000,000 and of this amount for the coming years it is estimated that more than $600,000 annually will be in worn coin unfit for circulation. The stock of subsidiary silver coin June 30, 1905, was $114,824,189, an increase of $[illegible] during the year. The amount in circulation at the close of the year was $101,430,730 and the amount in the treasury $13,386,482.

The growth in the general stock of money during the year was $79,605,713 and the increase of the amount in circulation $68,739,783. Of the amount in circulation gold and gold certificates represent 43.9 per cent, silver and silver certificates 24.4 per cent, United States notes and treasury notes 13.2 per cent and national bank notes 18.5 per cent.

MISS ALICE ROOSEVELT AND PARTY BACK FROM ORIENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company's liner Siberia arrived at this port today direct from Yokohama in the record-breaking time of 10 days, 10 hours and 28 minutes, the fastest previous trip between the two places having been made by her sister ship, the Korea, in 11 days, 11 hours and five minutes. The Siberia's time is 23 minutes more than that of the Empress of India's record from the orient to Puget sound, though the distance covered was about 275 miles greater.

There were many distinguished passengers on the Siberia, among them being Miss Alice Roosevelt, United States Senator Newlands of Nevada and wife, United States Senator Warren of Wyoming, Representative Longworth of Ohio, Brigadier General H. T. Allen, chief of the Philippine constabulary; E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific company; R. P. Schwerin, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, and Miss Mabel Boardman and Miss Amy McMillan of Washington, D. C., the latter being traveling companions of Miss Roosevelt.

Although it was expected that Miss Roosevelt would spend a few days in and around San Francisco, all the previous plans were changed during the voyage and neither her party nor that of Mr. Harriman landed in this city at all. Instead, they were transferred from the Siberia to the tug Arab and taken direct to the Oakland side of the bay. They left there at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for the special car of the Southern Pacific, via Chicago, for their various homes. An attempt is being made to beat all previous records between Yokohama and the big cities of the east.

"All the presents that I received were merely inexpensive mementos of the trip, such as any girl traveling in strange countries would receive," said the president's daughter. "There really was nothing so remarkable about my trip. I can not understand why so much fuss was made about it. I had an exceptionally fine time and enjoyed every moment that I was away. The only thing that I regret is that so many nonsensical stories were circulated regarding me."

Mr. Harriman said:

"Our visit to the orient has been one not only of much pleasure to us all but also one of instruction. We were treated by all classes, especially in Japan, with the utmost courtesy and consideration. While our visit was solely for rest and recreation, we were enabled to learn many things which will help in our future relations.

"Japan is working out her own destiny. Her people are intelligent and alive to the interests and working in close alliance with the people and will continue developing the commercial welfare of the whole country.

"China is beginning to wake up and will probably open herself, which awakening has been brought about by the development of railroads constructed during the last six or eight years.

"Korea is still a problem and her destiny will probably be worked out by the aid of Japan. My opinion is that the Japanese are the dominant factor in the orient and that there will be large future development, though not immediate."

fices along that route in vain, and he now believes that they are in some remote mining camp in some gulch along the Moffat right of way, where mail is perhaps delivered not oftener than once in two weeks. He is almost beside himself in not being able to locate them. His daughter, if she is alive, is now fifteen years old. It has been more than three years since he remembers having seen her or his wife.

Whether or not he will recover his mining property in the Cripple Creek district he does not know, but he will go after it with a determination to win. Some of it has perhaps been maliciously confiscated while one of the mines was sold as security for a small loan which might easily have been redeemed under normal circumstances.

Mr. Hughes is temporarily residing at the People's Mission, West Huerfano street.

SHERIFF CONVINCED OF PICKENS' GUILT

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 22.—Sheriff T. F. O'Mahoney of Lake county, who came down from Leadville Saturday to investigate the confession of Daniel Pickens regarding the murder of Tom Walsh, a Leadville saloonkeeper, in 1893, returned to Leadville today, leaving the man a prisoner in the county jail, where he has been held since his confession. The Leadville sheriff believes Pickens is telling a straight story, but owing to the latter's mental condition it is impossible to convict him. It is probable Pickens will be tried in this county for insanity.

JERRY SIMPSON PASSES AWAY; FUNERAL SERVICES TOMORROW

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 24.—The funeral of Ex-Representative Jerry Simpson will be held in Wichita Wednesday at the Scottish Rite temple. The body will lie in state from 1 until 5 Tuesday. It will be a Scottish rite funeral entirely. The Blue Lodge of Medicine Lodge will have charge of the services at the grave.

An autopsy over the body of Mr. Simpson was held this morning. The result of autopsy confirmed what the doctors had maintained, that the trouble was heart disease, the ascending aorta, this being that there was an enormous dilatation of the blood vessel leading from the heart.

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 23.—Former Congressman Jerry Simpson died at 2 o'clock this morning at St. Francis hospital from aneurism of the aorta. Mr. Simpson was conscious up to five minutes before death. The end came without a struggle.

He had been hovering between life and death for 10 days, the end having been looked for almost hourly during that time. At the bedside were Mrs. Simpson, the only child of the couple, Lester Simpson of Topeka, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Simpson, Jr., the former congressman's last illness began at the time of his final campaign for congress.

In spite of failing health he continued his business activity, working as an agent for the DeFrees-Draper Land company of Chicago and operating an extensive ranch near Roswell. Six months ago his condition became such that he went to Chicago to consult a specialist, who pronounced his malady hopeless. From that time on he continued to grow weaker, until finally compelled to abandon business. He was brought to the hospital here September 2. The time for the funeral has not yet been fixed. The Scottish Rite consistory of Wichita, of which Mr. Simpson had been a member, will have charge. Burial will take place in Wichita.

He held membership also in the Masonic blue lodge at Medicine Lodge, Kas. He was not affiliated with any church. His estate is valued at $10,000.

GENERAL STRIKE IN CLOTH MILLS SEEMS INEVITABLE

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 24.—The textile situation here was more critical tonight than it has been at any time since the great strike last January. The Manufacturers association, representing all of the print cloth mills in the city except those controlled by M. C. D. Borden of New York, held a meeting this afternoon and voted to refuse the request of the textile council for a direct restoration of the wage schedule which prevailed previous to the 12½ per cent reduction of July 25, 1904. The action of the association will be considered tomorrow night by the textile council.

Many business men fear that another strike will be declared on, but at this time it is impossible to indicate what action the operatives will take.

The plan of the manufacturers provided for a direct increase of five per cent and a profit-sharing agreement. The present condition of the market would net the employes about eight per cent, which would make a total increase in wages of about 13 per cent. President J. Tansey of the textile council, when informed tonight of the manufacturers' decision, said he regretted very much the stand of the mill owners but would not enter into a discussion of the subject.

It is considered probable before final action is taken by the unions further negotiations will be held between the two sides, and should a strike be determined upon it is thought that the operatives would not leave the mills until the close of the week. It is understood, however, that before drastic action is taken strong efforts will be made to reach a peaceful solution of the difficulty.

STANDARD OIL HAS A RIVAL

CALIFORNIA COMPETITOR BACKED BY MILLIONS TO OPERATE ON EXTENSIVE SCALE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Bulletin today says:

The Standard Oil company has a new rival in California, a competitor backed by millions with connections in Europe and the advantage of water transportation. The transaction which brought a competitor of the Standard Oil in the field was the sale of the control of the Western Oil Refining and Manufacturing company's plant at Rodeo, Contra Costa county, to the Liebes Brothers and Henry J. Crocker, who comprise the new concern. The plant cost $75,000, but it is to be enlarged to more than double its capacity, the new owners contemplating the expenditure of as much as $250,000 on the works.

"It is believed that a new plant will be erected in the oil fields of Santa Barbara county, where the Liebes own between six and eight thousand acres of producing oil lands. These fields are near the coast, whither oil will be piped in large quantities and brought to this port for refining."

BITTER FEELING IS EMPHASIZED

ROME, Oct. 23.—The vatican authorities today decided to instruct Manager Rinaldini, the papal nuncio at Madrid, not to participate in any of the official ceremonies incident to the visit of President Loubet. This decision is looked upon as still further emphasizing the bitterness felt by the holy see over what it considers the persecution of the church in France.

MURPHY AND M'CARREN WILL BE SUMMONED

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—It was stated today that Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and Patrick McCarren, Democratic leader in Brooklyn, will be called to testify before the insurance investigating committee. The purpose of summoning them is to discover whether they know anything about the affairs of the New York Dock company, which owns wharf and warehouse property in Brooklyn. The Mutual Life Insurance company owns about $3,800,000 of its securities.

MUST EXPLAIN TRANSACTION

STATE DEPARTMENT ASKS ILLINOIS LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY TO GIVE ACCOUNT OF CONDUCT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Officials of the Illinois Life Insurance company, who have been called upon by the state department to explain a transaction involving the alleged payment of some $65,000 expended in 1903 at a time when a measure was pending before the Kansas legislature providing for the taking over the Kansas Mutual Life company by the Illinois concern, say the entire affair will be cleared up Wednesday. Twelve interrogatives in all, it is said, were propounded by the state insurance department. What those interrogatives were the officials of the Illinois Life decline to say. President James W. Stevens of the Illinois Life today said:

"Not one dollar of the money was paid by the Illinois Life Insurance company or anyone in its interests for the purpose of influencing legislation in Kansas. It is a matter of record that the so-called enabling act, which was passed by the Kansas legislature authorizing the reinsurance to be effected, was procured to be passed by persons interested in the old company long before the Illinois company was invited to present a proposition for reinsurance. All the money paid out on account of the reinsurance was to take care of the outstanding renewal contracts and the expenses incurred by reason of the policy holders' convention called to consider the matter and sundry expenses incident to the receivership and execution of the company's affairs by the actuaries of the Kansas and Illinois departments."

NAT GOODWIN IN "WOLFVILLE"

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Nat C. Goodwin appeared at the Broad Street theater tonight for the first time in "Wolfville," a play from Alfred Henry Lewis' book of that name, the dramatization being by Clyde Fitch and Willis Steele. Mr. Goodwin has not been seen in rough and ready clothes since the days of "Mizzouri," and in the part of Cheshire Hall, a typical gamblet of the southwestern plains, he seems to have found a splendid vehicle for his character work and comedy. Mr. Goodwin has drawn a striking character study of the westerner with a rough and honest nature. His scenes were well received and at the end of the third act he was called out for a speech.

NEW WASHINGTON THEATER OPENS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The Independent theatrical managers, led by David Belasco, the Schuberts and Harrison Grey Fiske, had a brilliant opening of their new Washington home tonight when the Belasco theater, which stands on the site of the old Blaine home, was opened with Miss Blanche Bates in the title role of the latest Belasco play, "The Girl of the Golden West."

The audience was an unusually brilliant one and representative of Washington society, including members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and their ladies.

DETROIT, Oct. 23.—The Lafayette theater, which has recently been leased by the Shuberts of New York, was opened tonight as an independent playhouse. Government Will Allow Private Capital to Construct Panama Canal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The government of the United States is willing to enter into contracts with corporations or individuals for the construction of any portion or all of the Panama canal.

This statement was made by Secretary Taft today while discussing conditions upon the isthmus and the policy of the government.

There is some doubt in his mind whether any concern would be willing to undertake the excavation of the Culebra cut on account of the magnitude of that work.

The government will be ready to enter into contract for the completion of the canal as soon as it is determined what type of canal shall be constructed.

It is stated that contracts could not be made during the preliminary stages of the work because the government had to prosecute the construction until its officers knew what was to be done and had a sufficient knowledge of the conditions to pass upon bids and make judicious contracts.

FIRE DAMAGES FOLK MANSION

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 23.—The governor's mansion at Jefferson City was damaged to the extent of $10,000 by fire this morning at 3 o'clock. Governor Folk, his wife and guests had to seek quarters at a nearby hotel.

Governor Folk was aroused by the crackling of the flames. He telephoned the fire department and then attempted to extinguish with fire extinguishers the fire which was blazing in the second story hallway. The governor's efforts to stay the flames proved ineffectual and after seeing his wife and their five guests were safely from his mansion he devoted himself to saving the portraits of his predecessors in office.

After more than an hour's labor the firemen extinguished the flames. The fire is believed to have started from a defective flue.

The mansion was erected in 1872 at a cost of $75,000. Since then frequent appropriations have been made by the legislature and the improvements and furnishings have cost $75,000 more. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN REVIEWS GREAT AND VICTORIOUS FLEET

TOKIO, Oct. 23.—The naval review today passed off without the slightest hitch. It was a most impressive sight, not however on account of the size and number of ships but as a conglomeration of fighting craft fresh from the war and crowned with victories of unprecedented magnitude.

Three hundred and eight warships including the former Russian battleships Peresviet (renamed by the Japanese the Sagami), Poltava (Tango), Nicholai I (Iwami), the armoured cruisers General Admiral Apraxine (Okinoshima) and Admiral Semavin (Minoshima), twelve auxiliary cruisers including three chartered vessels, 28 torpedo boat destroyers including the captured Bedovi and Ryeshitelni, 77 torpedo boats and five submarine boats, were drawn up in six lines.

The emperor, on board the cruiser Asama, followed by the protected cruiser Yiesyama, and escorted by the gunboats Tatsuta, Chihaya and Manshu, passed along the front of the first line which was headed by the Shikishima, Admiral Togo's flagship. When the Nicholai I, which was at the end of the line, was reached the cruiser Asama headed due north and then in a westerly direction, entering the second and third lines and afterwards resumed her original position. During this maneuver Admiral Togo was at the emperor's side.

The emperor then received in audience on board the Asama Admiral Noel and the captains of the British and American warships present, the battleship Wisconsin and the cruiser Cincinnati. The weather was fair but it was misty on the water. Popular enthusiasm was aroused to the highest pitch. Besides the thousands who witnessed the naval pageant from all sorts of craft in the bay all the available points of vantage along the shore were densely covered with eager spectators. The spectacle caused much joy and satisfaction among the Japanese, especially in the breasts of those who recalled that only forty years have elapsed since at that very spot no warships except those of foreign powers had ever floated. It is believed that the review will give a most powerful stimulus to the national education.

At the conclusion of the review, at 4:30 p. m., the emperor returned to Tokio.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play when in health and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co. plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

TO RIVAL OIL FIELD OF BEAUMONT, TEX.

M. B. Robinson of the United Oil company of Florence, passed through Colorado Springs yesterday en route to Denver from Calhan where he made an examination of the oil prospects of that section. Speaking of his observations in that locality Mr. Robinson said:

"This certainly is a wonderful geological formation, and strengthens my belief that this territory will rival the Beaumont fields when properly developed. With oil and gas, the immense deposit of bauxite and other clays will be utilized and Calhan's future is assured. The geological formation is similar, and I may say better than the Florence field.

"The shale formation extends downward to an unknown depth, giving ample room for an enormous supply of both oil and gas. Coal is also here, and with the drilling now being done, and with that under consideration, a new coal field will be opened in our state. Calhan is before it a bright future as soon as the field is developed."

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 23.—J. P. Morgan, Jr., and George W. Perkins were presented to Foreign Secretary Lamsdorff by Charge D'Affaires Eddy today. It can be definitely stated that no individual concessions will be granted in connection with the big Russian loan, which is being negotiated. Each of the foreign banking groups will be on the same footing. The Americans do not seem to be particularly pleased with the terms offered by the Russian government. A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it to children, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

JOHN L. PLEASES MANY FRIENDS AT THE EMPIRE

At every show last evening the house was packed to its utmost capacity to see the king of the prize ring, America's ideal fighter, John L. Sullivan.

Mr. Sullivan, who looks fleshy and a little out of condition, demonstrated while sparring with his sparring partner, Jim McCormack, that he is still possessed with that famous wallop that has so many times brought home the money. Mr. Sullivan made a brief address and each performance last evening before sparring. In his monologue he stated that if he could have as much pleasure in reducing his flesh as he has had in obtaining it, he would start immediately.

The Heim children are playing their third week's engagement in an entirely different act entitled "Heine is in Town," and are still the favorites of the pleasure-loving public. Eddie Ernie, the one-legged wonder, is really a wonder. It is hard to imagine how a one-legged man could be so active and do such difficult things.

Mr. Dervin is the cleverest ventriloquist ever seen in this city and produces many pounds of laughter and applause. Mr. Speed, singing "I'm Trying So Hard to Forget You," is making a decided hit, and the motion pictures are a feature of features, being a thrilling story entitled "Stolen by Gypsies."

The minstrel show is the first of a series of winter entertainments to be given at the home.

These stations were secured by the American company in the face of opposition from Marconi and other foreign companies operating in their home territory. The De Forest people have stations throughout the world, even in South America.

GOVERNMENT TO START TWO TOWNS IN IDAHO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Two towns, to which the United States government will be a party, will be created about 40 miles in southern Idaho, on sites which now are absolute desert waste. Names already have been chosen for them. Bills for the first, which is to be created November 14, and for the second, which is to be created one week later. The two towns will be seven miles apart. Sales of town lots will be conducted under government auspices on the day that the towns are created. The lots will be sold to the highest bidder. While the country is now a desert, it is expected that the great irrigating canals which the government is constructing at a cost of $7,000,000 will make it very productive. The towns are located on the recently surveyed branch of the Oregon Short Line railroad.

STEVENS WILL NOT OFFER RESIGNATION

PANAMA, Oct. 23.—It being persistently rumored in the canal zone that Chief Engineer Stevens intended resigning, Mr. Stevens said today:

"You can deny the report. There is absolutely no truth in it. I am satisfied with my work in every way and, God willing, I will remain until the canal is finished."

Mr. Stevens went to Colon yesterday to examine the preliminary work on the system which is to furnish the water supply of Colon, which will be completed by next December.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The British steamer Potomac, which sailed at Avonmouth Oct. 21 from Philadelphia, reports having passed a large steamer in latitude 51 north, longitude 30 west, showing two red lights, a sign that she was not under control. Apparently she was steaming slowly ahead. The Potomac did not receive any reply to her signals and the unknown steamer did not ask for assistance. A heavy sea was running at the time.

TRIM THE TREES.

A PEDESTRIAN who has been slapped in the face by the overhanging branches of the trees bordering the sidewalks is likely to have very emphatic opinions of the public spirit, or lack of it, of the owner of those particular trees. On nearly every residence street in Colorado Springs there are trees that seriously need the attention of somebody with a pruning knife. In some places the branches hang down over the sidewalks at just the right height to knock off the hat of the passer-by, or strike him in the face. To receive this sort of chastisement is disagreeable enough at any time, but after a rain, when the leaves are dripping wet, there are few words in the vocabulary of the average man except the "big, big D" which adequately express his feelings.

A great many people neglect the trees bordering their sidewalks under the impression that it is the duty of the Street Department to care for them. This is a mistake, as the property owners alone are responsible for such trees. Very little trouble or expense is involved in the proper care of shade trees, and it is a duty of good citizenship which every man owes to himself and his neighbors. Well trimmed trees add more to the appearance of a street than any other one thing, and by the same token nothing lends more to give a highway a ragged appearance than overhanging or broken branches.

A TUBERCULOSIS "CURE."

AT THE recent tuberculosis convention held in Paris, Professor von Behring expressed the belief that he had found a cure for the dread disease. The most encouraging circumstance in connection with this possible discovery of a cure for consumption is to be found in the closing words of Dr. Behring's address:

"The present situation bears," he said, "as I wish expressly to emphasize, an extraordinary resemblance to that in which I found myself fifteen years ago when I discovered the new remedy for diphtheria. From the very beginning of the discovery in 1889, I had not the least doubt of its practical importance. Four years, however, had to elapse after my communication before the results of my scientific investigations found general recognition, and in all probability this would have been delayed much longer had not my highly esteemed friend, Emile Roux, in his address at Budapest, taken my part as champion of the utilization of my diphtheria serum for the cure of the child-murdering diphtheria."

Judging from what Dr. von Behring says, there is little doubt that he is sincere in his belief that he has made the discovery for which medical men and those afflicted with the great white plague have been waiting more eagerly than any other. His expression of hope, however, that others may secure even better results than he has been able to attain, and find improved methods of applying his remedy, carries the suggestion that the experiments have not been concluded, and that Dr. von Behring's remedy is still far from being perfected.

At the close of Dr. von Behring's address the American members of the congress were asked whether the present state of medical science held out the hope of a permanent cure of tuberculosis, and they expressed themselves in the affirmative. This shows that leading practitioners are optimistic and as long as this is the case the public can afford to be patient. It is said that thus far Dr. von Behring has demonstrated the value of his new discovery only in its application to horses, cattle, goats, sheep and other animals. If the view that animal tuberculosis is different from the kind which affects humanity were generally accepted, little faith would be placed in the results of Dr. von Behring's experiments; but it is a significant fact that the delegates to the Paris congress almost unanimously passed a resolution that "it is desirable to guard against all forms of animal tuberculosis."

MORTALITY IN THE ARMY.

THE splendid efficiency of the Japanese medical service in the recent war taught military surgeons the world over that it is no longer necessary for an army camp to be one vast hospital, and in no country was this lesson more needed than the United States. According to figures printed by the New York Globe 110,070 Union soldiers were killed in action or died from wounds during the Civil War, and 249,458 died of disease. In the war with Spain, only 268 Americans succumbed to bullet wounds, while 3,862 died of disease. This is in the proportion of fourteen to one, while the proportion in the Civil War was a little more than two to one. It is said that out of 15,000 French soldiers sent to Madagascar in 1894, only twenty-nine were killed in action or died of wounds, but more than 7,000 perished of disease.

In his report, submitted to Secretary Taft a few days ago, Surgeon-General O'Reilly, of the Army, says:

Comparisons with foreign armies show that the highest rate of admissions is in the American army and the lowest in the Russian. The highest death rate was in the American army and the lowest in the Prussian. The highest non-effective rate was in the American army and lowest in the Prussian. The comparatively high American death rate for tuberculosis is explained by the fact that in the United States army tuberculous patients are sent to a sanatorium and retained in service for long periods, while in other armies they are promptly discharged.

That such a condition should obtain in this country where medical science has attained a high degree of perfection does not speak well for the medical branch of the Army. Not the least conspicuous of the triumphs with which the Japanese have astonished the world in the last eighteen months is the splendid success of their army medical service in keeping down the mortality from disease. The number of Japanese soldiers killed in action is given as 46,180, the number who died from wounds 10,570, while 15,200 succumbed to sickness. This makes the mortality due to disease less than one-fourth of the total, instead of being several times the number killed by bullets, as has been the case in American wars.

It is clear from this that the Japanese medical service played an important part in winning its country's victories. The yellow people have been the first to realize that a sick soldier means not merely one less fighting man available, but that he is a source of trouble and [illegible] the attention of able-bodied men. Perhaps the racial characteristic of cleanliness which is lacking in the Japanese, is partly responsible for the low disease mortality in their army, but there are other causes. The water supplies were carefully protected and the sanitary regulations in camp were strictly enforced. There is no good reason why the death rate from disease in the American army should not be as low as it was among the Japanese forces in Manchuria, and the next war in which these countries engage will tell whether or not American military surgeons have learned their lesson well.

The cashier of a St. Louis restaurant who was arrested for larceny pleaded absent-mindedness as his excuse. He said that while reading in a newspaper of the operations of the McCurdy family he unconsciously abstracted $7 from the cash drawer. It would be a crime to send that man to jail. He ought to be appointed president of some insurance company that is looking for a first-class financier.

Mr. Bryan has made a speech to the Japanese in Tokio, and the fact that his audience probably couldn't understand a word he said made not a particle of difference. The ruling passion is so strong in Mr. Bryan that he would make a speech if his audience were composed entirely of wooden Indians.

A Kentucky candidate says he has a "divine call to run for office on the Prohibition ticket." Such an assertion coming from a Kentuckian in Joe Miller's day would have been given prominent place in his "Joke Book."

It is proposed to put a big pendulum in the Kansas state house to prove the motion of the earth. In most of the other states the people have quit doubting that the earth moves.

Through respect to our president's well-known temperance principles, when he met the governors of the Carolinas no reference was made to a lapse of time.

A North Dakota murderer sang a song of his own composition on the scaffold. The spectators then saw him drop without a shiver of horror.

Japan might bring her enormous war debt to speedy settlement by instituting a Mutual Life Insurance company, McCurdy plan.

The republican party of Texas sends out assurances that it is "united and harmonious." However, the Democrats still poll the votes.

On his recent visit to the Philippines Secretary Taft rode a horse thirty miles in a day. The honorable secretary survived.

"What will be the next step in the insurance expose?" asks a New York paper. The lock-step, perhaps.

Open Parliament

A COLORADO CITY FRACAS.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

In your article headed "Trail of Blood Leads to Jail," which appeared in yesterday's Gazette, you misstated the facts. These facts I will now give you, and if you are willing to do the right thing you will publish them.

The fact is that Tom Lyons was in Colorado City on Sunday, and he was drunk. But he was very quiet and was not bothering anyone until Will Reiley happened along. Thinking it would be great sport, he began to tease this man Lyons by pinching him and knocking off his hat and tripping him. This he continued to do for three-quarters of an hour, until finally Lyons slapped Reiley. Then Reiley hit him, and this started a fight, although Lyons was very drunk. Then Officer Gilliland appeared and grabbed Lyons by the arm, when Lyons turned and struck at him. The officer then began to use his club and beat the man in a most brutal manner, laying his scalp open clear to the bone, so that it required several stitches. Gilliland still continued to beat him over the head until he finally broke his club on the man's skull, and was told by Charles Minium to stop beating the man. He would not stop. Even while four of them were carrying the man to jail, the officer continued to beat him with his broken club and with his fist. He even beat him after he was in the police headquarters, until Chief Birdsall made him stop. Dr. Willard was then called in sew up the man's scalp and dress his wounds.

Now, the fact is, the officer did not have to beat the man in such a brutal manner, for the man was drunk, and there were a hundred citizens on the street who would have helped the officer had he needed their assistance. Another thing, Reiley was the one who started the trouble and should have been arrested. Then, again, if the mayor and the police department had been doing their duty the back doors of the saloons would have been closed and Lyons would probably have been sober.

If Lyons was to blame, why didn't they keep him in jail over night and fine him Monday morning, instead of hiring a man to take him home Sunday evening? Now, Mr. Editor, those are the facts, which you may publish if you dare.

ADAM JACOBS.

IT CAN BE DONE.

He who says that the American people cannot control large corporations or other combinations of power and money, simply says that we lack either the capacity or honesty to govern ourselves. In either case he is wrong. The very fact that wrong doing is daily exposed to the gaze of the public is in itself evidence that we are governing ourselves wisely, if not as well as we should.—Trinidad Chronicle-News.

THE PEOPLE PAY THE BILL.

In the last ten days the Standard Oil has advanced the price of its products an average of six cents a gallon. The paper mills do not produce a sheet large enough to figure out the income per day from this advance. We expected something of the kind, however, when a fortnight since in a speech criticising Carnegie's philanthropy, Deacon Rockefeller stated he was spending $20,000 a day in the south for educational purposes and hoped soon to make it $100,000. The oil advance will leave him a handsome margin over and above the $100,000. The oil consumers make the contribution, and Rockefeller gets the credit.—Telluride Journal.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

Some busybody, at the expense of laborious research and effort, has made the discovery that King Edward was crowned king of England and emperor of the British possessions just as the official clock recorded the second second of the second minute, of the second hour, of the second day, of the second week, of the second month, of the second half of the second year of the twentieth century. And the fact is considered of sufficient moment to justify cable tolls or the hurrying of the important information to this country, via the McGinty route.—Telluride Journal.

JAMES J. HILL, MASTER OF MILLIONS

FROM poor boy to master of millions, from lower of wood to the throne of monarch in the railway world, from mediocrity to a commanding position among the captains of industry and the generals of finance this in outline is the history of the life of James Jerome Hill, magnate of transportation, who rounded his sixty-seventh year Saturday. Not a wrecker of railroads, but a builder of empires, this man has succeeded where others have failed because he has been possessed to a high degree with the gift of continuity and has not watched the clock. His early history carries the lesson that obstacles melt before indomitable energy and the dauntless will of him determined to conquer. With heart, soul and nerve concentrated upon his purpose, James J. Hill moved toward accomplishment and carved out his own destiny.

Although poor, the present potent head of a great transcontinental railroad was not born in poverty. His father, also James J. Hill, came from the north of Ireland, and settled on a farm in the territory then known as the Canada company's lands. His mother was a Dunbar and belonged to the illustrious Scotch family of Dunbars, who trace their lineage in direct line to the Stuarts. In the rebellion of 1798 the Dunbar estate was destroyed, the family went to Canada, and at the time of the birth of young James his mother's people were well-to-do farmers. James' father was a tory and staunch Orangeman, as were all his ancestors, and the boy was predestined to be a Presbyterian minister. In this connection it is interesting to note that James did not become impregnated with antagonism for the church of Rome; to the contrary, while not himself a Catholic, he married a Catholic woman, and his gifts to the church of her profession have aggregated almost a million of dollars.

His Birthplace.

It was just sixty-seven years ago last month that James Hill was ushered into existence. On the 16th day of September 1838, he first saw the light in a little log house in the backwoods of Canada. The place was near Guelph, by name Rockwood, Eremosa township, Wellington county, province of Ontario. When seven years old the boy was sent to the Rockwood academy, and, the time he devoted to book learning was ten years. At the age of eighteen Hill had decided for himself that neither the ministry nor farming was a vocation pleasing to him, and he became a clerk in the general store of A. Passmore at Rockwood. So well did he succeed as a salesman that during the next year Mr. Passmore placed him at the head of his store at Guelph. While here Hill became fired with a desire to see more of the world and decided to seek his fortune in the United States. He traveled through the eastern states and finally definitely decided to locate in the west. His business life began in Minnesota and St. Paul became his home.

In the city which has since been his home "Jim" Hill commenced at the bottom. On the levee as "mud clerk" he secured work at 75 cents a day with Brunson, Lewis & White, agents for the Dubuque Packet company. He was frugal and saved his money. For six years he worked about the shipping interests in different capacities, his energy attracting attention, his wages increasing and his bank account steadily growing. His capacity and thoughtfulness were his chief characteristics. He was not a master of men, he was learning to obey orders and do a little more than was expected of him. During this time he was studious and devoured books with a ravenous gust. A story which is still told in St. Paul will serve to illustrate the extent of his reading and the attention it attracted.

One afternoon the learned Dr. Day entered a leading book store and saw a pile of books treating of the most intricate scientific subjects piled upon the counter. He asked whom they were for.

"A mud clerk on the levee named Jim Hill," replied the proprietor. "But what he wants of Gray's Anatomy is more than I can tell. A new suit of clothes would be better for him than those books."

Leaving his first employers, Hill engaged with Temple & Beaupre and then after a year went with Droup & Champlin, agents for the old Galena Packet Company and the Davidson line. During this period the war came on and Hill and E. Y. Shelley recruited a cavalry troop and prepared to go to the front. The state of Minnesota refused to accept the troop however, and captain Shelley took it into Iowa, where it became a part of a Hawkeye regiment, young Hill remaining in business in St. Paul.

Transportation His Hobby.

In 1865 Hill became agent at St. Paul of the Northwestern Packet company, which had succeeded the Galena company, and this position he held until the Northwestern and Davidson lines consolidated in 1867, when he went into the general transportation and fuel business. In 1878 the firm of Hill, Griggs & Co. was organized for general transportation business, and for six years was agent and consignee for the St. Paul and Pacific railroad.

If Hill had a hobby it was transportation. The first railroad had been built in Minnesota and the young man was watching it. He saw its possibilities and studied it intelligently and exhaustively. He felt intuitively the vast possibilities of the country to the northwest if means of communication could be established. In the absence of railroads the Red river attracted his attention, and in 1870 he established the Red River Transportation company and opened for the first time direct and regular connection between St. Paul and Fort Garry. A year later the company was consolidated with the Kittson Line and a daily service established between Moorhead and Winnipeg. This association controlled the navigation of the Red river and continued until the completion of the railroad to St. Vincent. About this time Mr. Hill, with E. N. Saunders, C. W. Griggs and William Rhodes, established the Northwestern Fuel company, but his time was given to the transportation company, and in 1878 he sold the fuel company to Saunders and the late William L. Scott of Erie.

The career of James J. Hill as a positive factor in railway affairs began in 1873. During the latter part of that year and early in 1874 began the work which resulted in the acquisition of the St. Paul and Pacific. Since then he has continued until the present day of the Great Northern.

In conjunction with Commodore Kittson and Donald A. Smith (afterward Sir Donald) he organized a syndicate to secure control of the St. Paul and Pacific. The securities were owned by Dutch investors. Interest had not been paid on the bonds. The state had passed through the most depressing period in its history and had possession of one branch of the line under mortgage foreclosure. There were two branches of the line, and to secure them it was necessary to buy the bonds of one and the stock of the other. Hill worked for three years with N. W. Kittson, Donald A. Smith and George Stephen (Lord Mount-Stephen) of Montreal, the funds were raised and the property secured. It then became necessary to reconstruct the old and build a new road, and through the same influences a loan of $32,000,000 was effected, the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba company organized, and the line built. James J. Hill made the road. He was general manager from its organization until 1882, when he became vice president; in 1883 he was elected president.

Of Wonderful Executive Genius.

Constantly uppermost in the mind of Mr. Hill was the idea of a western outlet, and in 1880 he associated himself with George Stephen, Donald A. Smith, R. B. Angus, Morton, Rose & Co. of London and other capitalists in the building of the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Hill soon foresaw that the building of a through line within Canadian borders would militate against the Manitoba system, so in 1883 he sold to his associates his interest in the Canadian Pacific and again turned his thought and energy to a western line of his own. The completion of this is a matter of very modern history. It is the life work of James J. Hill.

Many are the stories to be told of this man as a manager whose wonderful executive genius has made possible the imperishable memorial in the country he has created. But it is a question whether this characteristic has stood him in better stead than his intuitable finesse as a financier. The singular shrewdness, judgment and foresight which have characterized the financial operations of the Great Northern magnate could be illustrated by many stories in connection with his successful manipulation of the stocks, although he has never been a speculator in the ordinary acceptation of the word. In finance as in other matters he saw the end from the beginning, and never swerved in his course.

Then there is another side to the man. He is an enthusiastic stock promoter with an almost perfect stock farm, Oakview, north of St. Paul. There are 1,600 acres in his farm, and for years he has been distributing fine sheep, cattle and hogs to different sections along the line of his railroad for breeding purposes, stipulating that the animals shall be for the use of the communities.

A Connoisseur in Art.

As a connoisseur of art Mr. Hill is recognized as an authority. In his palatial home at St. Paul is a large gallery which contains more fine modern paintings than are exhibited in the Corcoran gallery at Washington. He has four pictures by Millet, a number by Troyon and others bearing the names of Diaz, Munkacsy, Delacroix, and Bouguereau.

The extent of Mr. Hill's benevolences and charities are, of course, unknown to the public, but there are some which are a matter of record. He gave $500,000 to endow the magnificent Catholic colleges near Groveland Park, in St. Paul, the gift coming without solicitation. When Macalester college was in financial difficulties he sent his check for $10,000. When his new home on Summit avenue was completed he left the Tenth street mansion just as it stood, furniture and all, and turned it over to the Little Sisters of the Poor. "No, I am not a Catholic," he answered when his gifts were announced, "but my wife is, and these are her offerings."

The thought of Mrs. Hill calls to mind the romantic side of the famous railway president and head of its vast collateral interests, including steamship lines, a system of gigantic grain elevators and other properties.

When Jim Hill was employed on the docks at St. Paul the waitress who served him at his boarding-house was a young woman whose natural dignity of manner commanded as much respect as her beauty won admiration. She was an Irish girl who needed only the culture that education gives to be a true gentlewoman. Hill saw this and opened the doors of opportunity, which poverty had closed to her. Loving her as a man does the woman whom he wishes to make his wife, Hill waited until years of study fitted her for the position to which he knew she as his helpmate would be called. When the school days were over they were married, and their domestic life has been as complete as his business career has been successful. Sons of the Hills are lieutenants of the father, and a son-in-law, also named Hill, is an official of the Great Northern system. And then there is a grandson, James J. Hill II., born companion and all-time favorite of the railway king.

His Personality.

James J. Hill is a large man, massive of head and brow. The eyes are steady, cool and brown. From the top of his gray head to the soles of his shoes there is not an irresolute line. He is quiet, grave and reserved, but those who know him well say that he is intensely human, fond of comforts, impatient of conventions and possessed of a rugged self-appreciation that is part of the make-up of successful men of the West. Of medium height, he is powerful of build and straight and ruddy and has a big, strong nose. His neck indicates the fighter and his eyes suggest gentleness. The mouth, large, full, sensitive, is the most striking feature of a face which in repose is sad and grave. He speaks deliberately, but he thinks like lightning. He looks the master that he is.—Henry Inverness Chamberlin, in Chicago Record-Herald.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

"Mr. Newlywed," began the man, "I have called—"

"See here," interrupted the young bridegroom, who was just installed in his new house, "are you one of those insurance agents?"

"Not at all. Learning that you and your wife are keeping house together I have called to interest you in Wiggin's Dyspepsia Tablets."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Two Famous Poems by John Hay

JIM BLUDSO.

Wall, no! I can't tell whar he lives,
Because he don't live, you see;
Leastways, he's got out of the habit
Of livin' like you and me.
Whar have you been for the last three year
That you haven't heard folks tell
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks
The night of the Prairie Belle?

He weren't no saint—them engineers
Is all pretty much alike,—
One wife in Natchez-under-the-Hill
And another one here, in Pike;
A keerless man in his talk was Jim,
And an awkward hand in a row,
But he never flunked, and he never lied,—
I reckon he never knowed how.

And this was all the religion he had,—
To treat his neighbor as well:
Never passed on the river
To mind the pilot's bell;
And if ever the Prairie Belle took fire,—
A thousand times he swore
He'd hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last soul got ashore.

All boats has their day on the Mississip,
And her day come at last,—
The Movastic was a better boat,
But the best she wouldn't be passed,—
And so she come tearin' along that night—
The only craft on the line—
With a nigger squat on her safety valve,
And her furnaces crammed, rosin and pine.

The fire burst out as she cleared the bar,
And burnt a hole in the night,
And, quick as a flash she turned, and made
For that willer-bank on the right.
There was runnin' and cursin', but Jim yelled out,
Over all that infernal roar,
"I'll hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last galoot's ashore."—
Through the hot, blank breath of the burnin' boat
Jim Bludso's voice was heard,
And they had trust in his cussedness,
And knowed he would keep his word.
And, sure's you're born, they all got off
Afore the smokestacks fell,—

And Bludso's ghost went up alone
In the smoke of the Prairie Belle,
He weren't no saint—but at judgment
I'll run my chance with Jim,
'Longside of some pious gentleman
That wouldn't risk his hide agin him.
He seen his duty, a dead-sure thing,—
And went for it thar and then,
And Christ ain't a going to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

HE GOT TOO MANY.

George Gould is most particular about and discriminating in what he smokes according to the notion of one Newark man whose ideas failed to hitch with Mr. Gould's. The railroad man visited a machine shop there recently to inspect a new device which he thought of installing on his lines. After his trip through the factory, he felt in his pocket for a cigar. He had none and the manager of the concern, much chagrined, discovered that he, too, had none.

"We'll send right out and get some though," he said.

"All right," said Mr. Gould, handing a $2 bill to the man summoned by the manager, "go get us some cigars."

The man knew it was George Gould and had vast ideas of the importance of the visitor, but unfortunately was himself a smoker. He returned with a great double handful of cigars, and he passed silently to Mr. Gould.

"Why—why, what's all this?" [illegible] Mr. Gould, inspecting the [illegible] which bore the name of a highly advertised brand of "five cent straights." The workman tried to explain [illegible] they were as good as any he knew, but was hustled back with them. There were forty-two cigars, by actual [illegible].—New York Tribune.

A TEST OF FRIENDSHIP.

The professor was examining a [illegible] brown substance spread on paper, when he was interrupted by a visit from a friend.

"I say, would you kindly let me have a little bit of this on your tongue," said the man of learning to the newcomer. "My taste has become satiated by sampling all sorts of things."

"Certainly," responded the friend, thrusting out his tongue.

The professor took up a little of the substance under analysis and placed it on the other's tongue. The latter worked it round for fully a minute, tasting it much as he would a sweet.

"Note any effect?" inquired the professor.

"No; none."

"It doesn't paralyze or prick your tongue?"

"Not that I can detect."

"I thought not. How does it taste?"

"Very bitter."

"Um-m; all right."

"What is it?" inquired the friend.

"I don't know. That's what I'm trying to find out. Some one has been salty 'ing it with it."—Tit-Bits.

The purchaser of the property is the owner of the entire capital stock of the Manitou and Pike's Peak railway, and is also the sole owner of the entire bond issue of the company, holding $500,000 of the bonds. He has ample financial resources to carry out the plans for beautifying the property, and many costly improvements are already being figured on. Not the least of these improvements will be the electrifying of the Cog road, which alone will entail considerable expense. In fact, it was the desire to change the road from steam power to electric power that led to the purchase of the entire holdings of the Iron Springs company.

Included in the purchase are about 300 acres of land, of which 160 acres are already platted as the Iron Springs addition to Manitou; all of the water rights and the water system owned by the Iron Springs company; all of the iron springs in Manitou, located in Engleman's canon; the popular Iron Springs hotel, and all of the pavilions and other improvements upon the property.

The tracks near the Iron Springs pavilion are to be changed to the opposite, or south, side of the creek and near the Cog road depot will be erected a stone arch bridge and pavilion, or pagoda, about 30x50 feet in dimensions.

Roberts & Bischoff, who had the original contract, have been figuring on the cost of finishing the building. It is understood the heirs of Mr. Martin will take stock in the company as remuneration for the property.

Announcement that the hotel building, which, as any uncompleted structure would, has marred the civic beauty of one of the principal streets of the city, is to be completed and made into an attractive structure, will be received gladly. The building faces the North park, occupying a lot 150x190 feet in dimensions and has 69 guest rooms, according to the original plans, but it is possible that this number may be increased under direction of the new company.

Mr. Hyde is famous for his poetical works, as well as numerous literary gems in prose. He was leader in the Celtic renaissance movement.

Mrs. W. H. Scudder and the Misses Scudder of 620 North Cascade avenue, returned from Europe last evening after an absence of several months.

MANY CHANGES IMPENDING IN VARIOUS CLUBS OF CITY

Colorado Springs clubdom at the present time is considerably agitated over numerous changes in managerial positions. Changes are to be made in the El Paso, Elks, Pike's Peak and Driving Men's clubs, and in some of them there is considerable speculation as to the outcome of the contest between candidates. Principally, however, this applies to the Pike's Peak club, where there are 14 men who desire to succeed James Crowell as manager.

On the first of November Thomas H. Fletcher will succeed Herschel P. Hildreth as manager of the El Paso club. Until about a year ago Mr. Fletcher was manager of the Cheyenne Mountain Country club at Broadmoor, where he gained the reputation of being one of the best club managers in Colorado Springs. Since leaving the Country club he has been in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Hildreth, who leaves the El Paso club, has the offer of an excellent position with a similar organization in California, but as he has applied for the position of manager at the Pike's Peak club, he will not leave Colorado Springs.

MINE OWNERS GET REPORTS

PRINTED COPIES OF NEW CRIPPLE CREEK DRAINAGE PLANS TO BE ISSUED TODAY.

Printed copies of the report on the Cripple Creek drainage tunnel situation, compiled by D. W. Brunton, will be given to mine owners and representatives of the mining companies in the district today. After they have had time to investigate the report a meeting will be held in Colorado Springs to determine which plan for driving the tunnel will be adopted.

It was expected to hold this meeting last Saturday, but the report could not be issued in time to give the mine operators sufficient notice. It is probable the meeting will be held next Saturday, but this point will not be definitely decided for several days. Sherwood Aldrich, chairman of the drainage tunnel committee, who has been in the east on a pleasure trip for several weeks, will return home this evening. During his absence E. P. Shove has been acting chairman.

So far as can be learned most of the members of the drainage tunnel committee favor adoption of the Window Rock plan of driving the tunnel, but this is a matter which will be left to the discretion of all the mine owners who, as individuals or corporations, contribute to the fund for putting the project through. It was with the idea of making them thoroughly acquainted with details of the different plans that the report of Engineer Brunton was ordered printed. In this report the expert strongly favors the Window Rock plan, which, while more expensive than the other, drains the entire camp at a much greater depth. According to this plan the elevation of the portal would be 7,660 feet, or 1,130 feet below the Cripple Creek tunnel. The distance to the main water channel would be 18,200 feet. The estimated cost is $510,000, or $468 for each vertical foot of ground drained. It is believed this plan will be the one adopted.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood, and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. SPRINGS MEN IN KANSAS OIL

SHOOT WELL NEAR PAOLA AND GET AN ESTIMATED FLOW OF TWENTY BARRELS.

Three Colorado Springs men are smiling over their good fortune in finding oil in paying quantities near Paola, Kansas. A company has been incorporated under the name of the Ferguson Crude Oil company and its officers are: A. R. Ferguson, president; Alex. Meredith, treasurer, and W. L. Howe, secretary. The first well, which is 390 feet deep, six inches in diameter and all cased, was shot last Tuesday and an estimated flow of 20 barrels was secured. The company has 1,000 acres of land and the indications are favorable for several other wells.

A Medicine Be Better.

The writing master of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has done for it a wide reputation and many people in America and country will agree with Mr. Chas. W. Cattison, of Milford, Va., who says: "It works like magic, and is the best preparation I know of. It couldn't be any better." He had a severe attack of dysentery and was advised to try a bottle of this remedy, which he did, with the result that immediate relief was obtained. For sale by all druggists.

HELD-UP BY MASKED MEN

CHAUFFEUR COMPELLED TO GIVE UP MONEY AT PISTOL'S POINT SUNDAY NIGHT IN IVYWILD.

Walter A. Gibbs, chauffeur for Charles A. Baldwin, of Broadmoor, reported to the police headquarters about 10 o'clock yesterday morning that he was held up by two men, masked and armed, in Ivywild, about 9:30 o'clock Sunday night. As the point where the alleged hold-up is said to have occurred is outside of the city limits, the matter should have been reported to Sheriff O. P. Grimes at once, instead of waiting twelve hours and reporting the matter to the police.

According to the statement made by Chauffeur Gibbs to City Detective Rowan yesterday, he had taken Mr. Baldwin to Broadmoor and was returning to this city to the garage. When near the E. W. Center residence, in Ivywild, two men stepped in front of the machine and commanded him to stop. Both men were masked, one wearing a red handkerchief and the other a black cloth over the face, and each man held a revolver in each hand. Owing to the roughness of the road the machine was running very slowly at the time and was quickly brought to a stop. Gibbs was searched and $6.30 in cash was taken from him, as was also a check for $100, which was returned when Gibbs said he would have payment upon it stopped at the bank. Gibbs was wearing a gold watch, diamond ring and pearl stickpin, but no effort was made to take this jewelry.

By the glare of the big searchlight upon the machine Gibbs was able to secure a good view of the men, and has given the police an excellent description of the hold-ups.

WHEAT STEADY

Pit Traders, However, Maintain a Bearish Attitude. Oats Strong.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The wheat market was steady throughout today, a bearish attitude on the part of the pit traders being in evidence. Receipts were moderate. Liberal shipments by the northwest, heavy of the Minneapolis & Chicago, and increased receipts at Russian ports were features of trading. Another feature was support of December by a leading bull house. The firm one of the Liverpool market said it believed in an advance of 6d in Russian offerings, expected more or less firmness to the market here from the start, and predicted a December being a shade to a cent higher at 85c to 86c. Weekly statistics were considered bearish.

World's shipments were liberal, totaling 12,416,000 bushels against 10,848,000 bushels last week and 8,520,000 bushels a year ago. These statistics, in conjunction with weather conditions in the Kansas and Nebraska belt, seemed to have a depressing influence on the minds of many traders. The bears, however, were held in check by determined buying by a prominent bull who bought on every indication of a slump in values. In consequence trading was not of great volume. For December the range in price for the day was confined within 1c, the lowest point being reached at 85¾c, opening quotations marked the highest point of the day. The close was steady with December selling at 85⅞@⅞c.

A sharp advance in the price of corn at Liverpool caused firmness in the market for that cereal here. Shorts and commission houses were moderate buyers. Weather throughout the corn belt was favorable for the movement, but local receipts were small. Selling of December by a local packer was a feature of trading. The market closed firm, December 1c net higher, at 45 to 45⅛c, sold off to 44⅞c and closed at 44⅞@45c.

Exceptional interest was manifested in the oats market. One of the principal sources of strength was a cablegram alleging that the Russian government had decided to prohibit the exportation of oats from Baltic ports. Demand was active the entire session, one commission house being credited with purchase of over a million bushels. The market closed at practically the highest point of the day. December opened a shade to ⅛c higher at 29⅛c to 29⅜c, sold between 29 and 29⅛c, and closed at 29⅜@⅜c.

Provisions were easier on selling of lard and ribs by leading packers. At the close January pork was off 10@12½c at $12.27½@12.30. Lard was down 5c at $6.72½@6.75. Ribs were 7½c lower at $6.42½.

STRENGTH MANIFEST

New York Market Broad and Active---Profit Taking Is General.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The day's market continued the speculative movement inaugurated the latter part of the week. The market was broad, active and strong and showed itself susceptible to some of the normal influences inseparable from a speculative movement. That is to say, it was under the necessity of absorbing the large amount of profit taking today as the result of the attractive profits accrued on last week's advances.

In the list of gains of one point and upwards on the day's transactions not less than 70 stocks and industrials will be found to figure. While the rallying power was not lacking in strength, the showing serves to illustrate that part of the list into the background. Only a handful of the most conspicuous active stocks moved as much as a point and they were the strongest in the movement. St. Paul was the last of the railroads to show strength, which was coupled with renewed expectations of an early announcement of the suggested plan of an extension of the time to the Pacific. The different equipment stocks naturally held the foreground place in the movement in the industrials.

Reports were in circulation before the opening of the stock market giving extraordinary figures of the orders received by the Pressed Steel Car company and, in persuasive of this information, of speculative favor, that stock was a leader of the upward movement. The condition of railroad traffic is pronounced to be unprecedented in the experience of the managers. The extraordinary efforts required to keep the heavy volume of freight in movement, and to prevent blockades, is said also to be raising the proportion of operating expenses on the margin of traffic above normal capacity.

The gradual easing of the money market continued both for time and call loans and no check was offered to speculation from that source. Foreign exchange continued very firm and the demand for remittance unimpaired.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $3,970,000.

U. S. 2's declined ¼ on call.

Consumptives Made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptives by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages, but if the lungs are not too far gone Foley's Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Horton of Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." AMENITIES OF CONDUCTORS.

A nervous, fussy woman, evidently a stranger in the city, got into an Amsterdam avenue car. She wanted to make everything very clear to the conductor, so that she could reach the proper street. She told him the street number, also the name of the person she was going to visit, and he promised not to forget her when they reached the right corner.

It was quite plain to the other passengers that she had little faith in his promise, as at every block she gave an apprehensive start, and every few minutes would ask if that was the place to alight. Reassured she would resume her seat and her nervous tremors. At length the conductor told her rather shortly to sit still and he would call the street when they reached it. When they got there he shouted so loud that the woman leaped in the air and then stood still in the middle of the car, uncertain which way to go.

"Which side shall I get out?" she asked, her trembling voice.

"No difference, ma'am, both ends stop. Step lively."—New York Press.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE.

A Kenwood lady, while in a pensive mood the other night, directed her little daughter's attention to the heavens, saying:

"See the beautiful moon. She is the kind mother and all those twinkling stars are her children."

After little Gertrude had looked over the celestial field for a moment she said:

"Well I guess Roosevelt isn't got in yet to scare old Mrs. Moon, anyway."—Chicago Record-Herald.

AN APPETIZER.

Dinner was a little late.

A guest asked the hostess to play something.

Seating herself at the piano, the good woman executed a Chopin nocturne with precision.

She finished, and there was still an interval of waiting to be bridged.

In the grim silence she turned to an old gentleman on her right and said:

"Would you like a sonata before dinner?"

He gave a start of surprise and pleasure.

"Why, yes, thanks!" he said. "I had a couple on my way here, but I think I could stand another."—Harper's Weekly.

Advice to Young Husbands.

If you are a husband, and as such soon expect to become a father, take heed. Before you can realize your fondest dreams it is necessary that great suffering be borne by her whom you love better than yourself; you would do anything in your power to alleviate her suffering, would you not?

Mother's Friend

A liniment of unquestioned value in pregnancy, will wonderfully ease the ordeal through which your wife must pass; it is easily within your power to procure it; surely it cannot be other than your duty to do so.

Most physics cause chronic constipation—or worse

Chronic constipation, piles, appendicitis and other such intestinal afflictions are more often caused by improper physics than anything else.

The average physic, whether in the form of a water, candy, pellet or powder, is intended to quickly and unnaturally move the bowels. Such an unnatural treatment shocks and weakens the intestines. Hence the continued treatment of stronger and stronger physics becomes necessary. This produces chronic constipation.

Piles and appendicitis are caused by the violent manner in which these expulsive drugs attack the intestines.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

in the ordinary sense is not a cathartic. It is a laxative but acts differently from all other preparations. It contains great digestive properties, which strengthen instead of weaken the intestinal muscles. It is pleasant to take, does not gripe or cause pain, and never creates a necessary for the continued use of any physic. All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

Money back if it doesn't satisfy.

AMUSEMENTS

BUSTER BROWN AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Buster Brown will give two performances at the Opera house today. A matinee this afternoon commencing at 3 o'clock, and this evening at 8. Matinee prices will be 25 cents, general admission. Everybody knows and likes Buster, as Richard Outcault has pictured him on the Sunday page of the New York Herald. The boy whose sense of humor is not surpassed to-all and outcrowded a large and brilliant company, including a chorus, ballet and a group of the American Beauties (clothed and costumed by Wanamaker, be it to prove most attractive). The play will be enacted by a clever little actor resembling and his funny dog Tige, a well-known artist impersonator. Everything is spectacular and some 40 people are engaged in the performance.

AVERLY'S MASTODON MINSTRELS.

One of the most important engagements of the season at the Opera house is the annual appearance of Averly's Mastodon Minstrels, introducing Russell, America's premier comedian. Russell is probably the best known and man in minstrelsy, and is out of question the greatest of them all. He is always up to date with new songs, parodies and stories, and while he is on the stage laughter surely will reign supreme. He says this season the most substantial year of his career. The manager has carefully surrounded him with a carefully selected company, of clever comedians, singers and dancers, and the olio of vaudeville novelties is unquestionably the best that has been seen with any minstrel organization. Billy Board, one of the best of the black face artists, will ably assist Russell in the fun making. Perrin and Herman Marion and Billy Board also join hands to make the Haverly show a true exposition of the genuine American minstrel performance. The Haverly Mastodon Minstrels will be the attraction at the Opera house on next Monday evening.

WILTON LACKAYE IN "THE PIT."

Reserved seats are now on sale for the engagement of Wilton Lackaye at the Opera House on next Thursday evening in William A. Brady's long-promised production of Frank Norris' thrilling story of Chicago, "The Pit." The play made by Channing Pollock has created nothing of a sensation wherever it has been seen and has been welcomed as one of the greatest American plays produced, certainly the greatest of "The Heritage." Manager Brady has mounted the piece most lavishly and the production is not unusually large, but attractive. "The Pit" as a story was enthralling, marked the top notch of the real American novel—the novel of business. The story describes how Jadwin succeeded in cornering May wheat and went on a smash in trying to corner the market in July wheat. Mr. Norris painted his pictures with a touch of the and laid on the flames with no niggard touch. Mr. Pollock is said to have made a play of great force and fascination out of the material with which Norris provided him. The story is said to be intensely human and realistic. The love stories, there are two of them—that permeate the play are idylic in their charm and appeal.
